

DONOR IMPACT

If flexibility was the key to surviving 2020, last year demanded persistence. Throughout 2021, thanks to your generosity and the support of volunteers and community partners, Valley Humane Society successfully met many challenges facing pets and people in our community. The record pace of adoptions seen in 2020 abated last year, and while the number of pets being surrendered to shelters remained low (contrary to news stories), the lack of adopters presented new challenges. Valley Humane remained focused on supporting homeless pets, while continuing to expand services keeping pets with their families and out of shelters. The AniMeals pet food pantry maintained record levels of meal provision, while our fee-free Home to Home program allowed animals to rehome directly from guardian to guardian. This year we also proudly reported our first spay/neuter milestone, with nearly 1500 adoptable dogs and cats altered. Amidst it all, our community of supporters came together to fund a capital campaign to build the Phil Scholz Veterinary Surgery Center, slated to open this summer. We are excited for the culmination of this important project, which will ensure essential surgical care is available to all, and further help prevent surrenders. Thank you for being our companions on this journey and kindly working alongside Valley Humane to save and improve lives in 2022. Your enthusiastic dedication to this mission makes it all possible!
